The history of Tutima began more than 80 years ago in the town of Glashütte in Saxony, center of finest watchmaking skills. Now, in remembrance of that proud past, Tutima presents the “Grand Classic” edition, the next chapter in the company’s ongoing success story. One of the striking features of all the models in the “Grand Classic” series is the sapphire crystal back engraved with the large Tutima “T” and the figures 1927, which stand for the year in which the history of Tutima began, when the UROFA (Uhren-Rohwerke-Fabrik Glashütte AG) and UFAG (Uhrenfabrik Glashütte AG) companies were founded in the watchmaking town of Glashütte in Saxony.

Tutima: new branch in its home town of Glashütte

The Tutima building in Glashütte.

Tutima has been making professional instrument watches since 1927. The history of Tutima began with Dr. Ernst Kurtz, who founded the UROFA (Uhren-Rohwerke-Fabrik Glashütte AG) and UFAG (Uhrenfabrik Glashütte AG) companies in the town of Glashütte in Saxony. In 1927, these top quality movements and watches were given the brand name "Tutima" (which comes from the Latin "tutus" for safe, or protected). Highlight was the legendary Tutima Flieger Chronograph of 1940.

After the war, the company set up in business again in Ganderkesee near Bremen. Now Tutima has once again established a branch in the home town of watchmaking par excellence. A development team of 14 currently works at the new Tutima building.
